

in co-sponsorship with

The Center for Asian Studies and
The Department of Music

PRESENTS

TRADITIONAL MUSIC TODAY:

P'ANSORI WITH CHAN E. PARK
Assistant Professor
Ohio State University

WEDNESDAY
APRIL 26, 2006
1:00-3:00 PM

WINIFRED SMITH HALL
at the University of California, Irvine

Free and Open to the Public

P'ansori is a musical form where a solo performer sings a story accompanied by a puk, a barrel-shaped drum. The program consists of a lecture of about 50 minutes, a p'ansori demonstration that lasts 5-10 minutes and a mini-workshop of about 30 minutes. Professor Park discusses the Korean musical heritage as part of Northeast Asian traditions, underscoring Korea's distinct areas of cultural convergence and divergence.

Please contact Shirley Field at 949-824-4281 or safield@uci.edu for directions.