

THE CURIOUS LIVES OF DOCUMENTS

University of California, Davis
Graduate Student Symposium

& Midnight University

Documents are pervasive artifacts: sought after, collected, venerated, hidden, depended on and fabricated by intellectuals of all paths of life. The Curious Lives of Documents Symposium will bring documents into focus, to interrogate their textures—their shifting contexts, and the simultaneous practices and relationships that surround them.

The Midnight University will create an alternative space to creatively explore issues surrounding documents and processes of documenting. Expect: films, performances, wall installations, table events, photos and sketches.

Everyone is welcome to this interdisciplinary event.

For more info: <http://symptom.ucdavis.edu/docsymposium/index.html>

Symposium:
9am-5pm

Putah
Creek
Lodge

Midnight University:
8:30pm-12am

University Club Lounge

MARCH 2, 2007

This event was made possible by the generous support of: College of Letters and Science, Office of Graduate Studies, Graduate Student Association, Anthropology Department, Comparative Literature, Technocultural Studies, English Department, Cultural Studies, Science and Technology Studies, Humanities Institute, Center for History Society and Culture, and the Center for Ethnography at UC Irvine.